SEPTEMBER 2013: LIVE DATES ANNOUNCED

For more info: screamfeeder.com / booking@screamfeeder.com

Screamfeeder have been asked by indie rock icons THE BREEDERS to join them on their Australian tour this October and dates have now been confirmed in Sydney and Brisbane. What better reason than to come out of hibernation?

After a rare appearance with Bob Mould and band at Brisbane's The Zoo earlier this year the band decided that perhaps playing live together would be a pretty awesome thing to do once in a while. With drummer Dean Shwerek back in town for good the band are ready to crank up the amps once more. [*Dean will be cranking up the drums].

A quick run of East Coast side shows has been added. For all ticketing and further info hit screamfeeder.com

Screamfeeder have started a huge archival release schedule which will last over the next year, of up to a dozen gig recordings from 1992 to 2013, as well as a 60+ song demos collection. All releases will be via the band's Bandcamp page.

Kellie Lloyd's second solo album Magnetic North was released in 2012, as was Tim Steward's new band WE ALL WANT TO's second album Come Up Invisible. Both received great responses both here and overseas, further cementing both songwriters as long-time heavyweight fighters on the side of good, in a world increasingly dominated by uni-course bands obsessed with boat shoes, haircuts, and playing nice radio pop. [Controversial] Screamfeeder believe in writing good songs, and performing them like your life depended on it. Old school? Shit yeah, and proud of it.
